SEBI proposes expiry-day derivatives and CAS overhaul

SEBI issued a consultation paper on 12 September 2026 proposing a comprehensive overhaul of the Closing Auction Session and expiry-day settlement prices for index and stock derivatives. Public comments on the market-structure changes are invited until 3 October 2026.

THE READ

This consultation signals a systemic regulatory push to curb volatility and manipulation risks around derivatives expiries. Market participants must assess the proposed alternative pricing models and timing adjustments before the October deadline.

NCLT clears meeting waiver for Siemens rail amalgamation

The National Company Law Tribunal approved procedural dispensation on 12 September 2026, waiving separate shareholder and creditor meetings for the proposed amalgamation involving Siemens Limited and its rail-automation business. Siemens issued stakeholder notices based on record dates in late August and early September 2026.

THE READ

The tribunal order removes a major procedural hurdle for this internal corporate restructuring. Dealmakers should monitor the subsequent statutory filings required to complete the amalgamation scheme.

Pulin Comtrade settles legacy NSEL proceedings with SEBI

Pulin Comtrade Ltd, a wholly owned subsidiary of SMC Global Securities Ltd, settled SEBI proceedings under the NSEL Settlement Scheme 2025 on 11 September 2026. The settlement involves a payment of 910780 rupees and a six-month voluntary debarment from proprietary commodities trading and taking new clients.

THE READ

This settlement brings closure to legacy regulatory exposures stemming from the NSEL matter. Although management deemed the impact non-material, the non-monetary restrictions highlight SEBI's continued enforcement posture.

DRI seizes 41 kilograms of gold across operations

The Directorate of Revenue Intelligence announced on 12 September 2026 that six recent intelligence-led operations across multiple cities yielded approximately 41 kg of foreign-origin gold valued at roughly 62 crore rupees. The actions form part of a broader crackdown on organised smuggling networks operating in India.

THE READ

The scale and coordination of these multi-city seizures indicate intense customs enforcement focus. Subsequent investigations carry significant potential to trigger broader predicate-offence or money-laundering probes.

SEBI reviews iceberg orders and information dissemination

As part of its 12 September 2026 market-structure review, SEBI proposed allowing unexecuted iceberg-order quantities to enter the Closing Auction Session as normal limit orders while discontinuing indicative index value broadcasts during CAS. Exchanges and market participants are directed to evaluate these operational adjustments.

THE READ

These proposed modifications will fundamentally alter order-matching dynamics and liquidity visibility during closing hours. Trading desks must re-engineer their execution algorithms to adapt to the new information environment.

THE THROUGH-LINE

Regulatory tightening and procedural streamlining dominated the corporate and securities landscape this week. From SEBI targeting expiry-day mechanics and legacy enforcement to the NCLT and DRI advancing operational restructuring and anti-smuggling actions, stakeholders face heightened compliance demands. Market participants must proactively engage with ongoing consultation papers while navigating stricter operational guardrails.
